Showcase description

I'm Elena, I work as social media specialis. I come from Naples but I'm based in Milan. I got a degree in communication and journalism. After the university I've decided to develop my digital and social skills, taking part to copywriting and social media management courses. Now I'm working as social media specialist, with a particular attitude and attetion to the copy part, to the definition of social adv campaing and to follow and guide the community. I'm a curious and accurate person. I'm always ready to learn something new. I'm searching for a place where I can grow up among creativity, sharing and prospective.
