Showcase description

I started to think like a graphic designer around 1994. In 1998 I found shelter in Nouvelle agency as a creative director of the corporate image division. In the same period I co-worked with Igort, Yumi Karasumaru, Iori and other artists from the Bologna area. I had been working with Igort on several editorial projects for Alessi and Coconino press. I moved in LCD Florence in 2001 where I did graphic design, 3D, web and video motion. During 2002 I leaved LCD and I began to work as a free-lance with several studios and communication agencies. In 2003 I founded with other designers in different disciplines the network TRE. In the following years I continued to collaborate with several agencies and companies. From one year I'm a creative director of AdmCom Design Area. Sometime I teach art direction in Accademia di Belle Arti di Bologna.
