Showcase description

I've been working as a copywriter since 2003, in Milan. I'm skilled in above the line, below the line and digital communication. Working for years, everyday, in agency with art directors and designers, i've learned something about graphics too: now I often happen to work on my own, as a "full service" creative and comunication consultant. In 2011 i've started working also as a community manager and social media editor.
