Showcase description

My name is Martina and I am a final year student at Iron IUSVE Verona, Science of graphic communications & multimedia specialist specializing in institutional and corporate communication. During my training I have become increasingly interested in words and major projects of some of the great fathers of Creativity and advertising as Albe Steiner and Bruno Munari. Steiner and Munari want to be for me a source of inspiration and daily reference point for learning to build a new way of thinking, acting and communicating.
