Showcase description

3DPlant is a reality involved in the presentation of various projects, ranging from architecture to design. In the building industry the rendering 3D is becoming more and more a reality and a widespread practice to be able to present their projects and for this 3DPlant support professionals during the design phase, so that we can give shape to their ideas. Starting with a concept or a plan, we realize the 3D model and from here we proceed with the study of materials and lights. The advantage lies in having a virtual model faithful to reality. http://www.3dplant.it/
