Showcase description

What is Getting Red? It's a web page that allows you to interact on multiple levels, with people who are curious, life-lover, looking to learn something from every experience, every time. This is the nature of each project, managed by the stage of conception to its realization, from a fashion shoot to events organization, with the same spirit. The naming, Getting Red, wants to be a warning, to move with speed and determination to achieve what you believe.
