Showcase description

My name is Simone Galasi. I'm a student of a graphic school in Milan. Currently i attend the second year of my professional formation, but about one year i should keep a certificate of professional school. I'm on this website to take part in different graphic contest (for example to creat a mark) not just for the reward that i can eventually take but also to have the possibility to compare my ability and challenge my self with other people probably more expert than me
