Showcase description

A maniacal passion about communication in its various forms distinguishes me from an early age, when, instead of the classic toys and toy cars to make me feel good enough to put in front of 1 sheet of paper and a pencil in my hand, where i pictured worlds, characters and stories that my imagination continually conceived. This situation helped me in the following years to put one little aside that which alas is one important component of my character that shyness and to relate in a normal manner and without fear with the real world circostante.X the rest 1 normal life with its ups and downs constantly looking work before, if it ever will fulfill 1 ... and i try to put myself here, on display with the world wide web .. to confront and share views with people..
