Showcase description

I love art and anything that can be a means of creative expression. Even as a child I cultivate a passion for freehand drawing, and I also love to paint. The desire to work in the world of graphic design (graphic design - web graphics), has always pushed me to deepen the study of different software as a self-taught student. I never stop and I always tried to make the best use of my talents, and "pandered" my passions! Now I can boast decades of experience in the field of Web Design. My latest passion is for Sugar Art - Cake Design, I am following in fact different theoretical and practical courses that allow me to explore this new "contemporary art". I collaborated with the magazine "Cake", the Corriere della Sera, space managed by Malvarosa Editions. I directed and managed two portals dedicated to Cake Design from 2012 to 2014, which was receiving daily feedback from the employees in the sector: with over 2,000 visits per month and more than 7000 users on Facebook. I like to experiment as any "good artist", I call myself a creative because I do not like labels! ;) Expert-eating guacamole: I read, write, eat, design, paint, create, cook and play with my daughter...
