I am Lenins Vargas, I'm taking a International and Public Communication degree. My native language is Spanish and my English is pretty good. I like communication in its different levels and I'd like have an opportunity work to learn the real job and give my support in Communication scope, of course. Before, in every kind of work experience Communication has been the main tool and helped me to make my best in the best possible way. For this reason I wanted to choose so different, interesting and evolving branch. I am willing, I like to learn through the practice things that often is difficult explain at school or college.
