Showcase description

dalmasso.francesca@gmail.com I have a lively interest in communication and public relations. During my university studies, I gained knowledge in communication and journalism, and the various experiences of internship and work I made have allowed me to improve my skills in writing articles for newspapers and websites, video editing, communicating on social media and event planning. I am a determined person and a perfectionist at work. I'd like to continue doing like this, honing my professional skills and improving my abilities by using new technologies.
