Showcase description

LC Developer is a concept born from the dream of Luca Cecconi, a freelancer who since 2007 has developed through collaboration with IT companies a good technical background in the creation of websites and web applications with the latest technologies server side, not that a strong ability to solve problems. Currently we are a small company with a big goal to reach, grow together with our customers, our main value is the seriousness and professionalism that are the basis for building a lasting relationship of mutual trust. Mainly we deal with the creation of websites tailored to the demand and the real needs of the customer, to ensure the final product meets your expectations, but if the need requires it you could also opt for open source solutions such as the famous CMS Wordpress to realize the project. Our strong point? It is certainly the dialogue with our customers, during the first meetings will evaluate the real need, in order to be able to provide targeted advice to the objective.
