Showcase description

Before becoming a filmmaker, you must first be an observer, not just perceiving images but be able to re-work them. When I realized that I am an observer, I realized what I want to do in my life. My aim is working in the field of video production. I am an independent filmmaker / editor, I studied film theory at the university and I practised as independent as well as collaborating with cinema productions, broadcasters and web TV. I'm an inquiring, passionate and determined person, I believe in the power of the images and in its variations: fiction movies, commercials, music videos, documentaries.
