

Greta di Fiore

Writer

---

Location: Italy > Lombardia > Varese

Years of Experience: 5

Employment Search: Si

Internships Available: Si

---

Showcase description

I'm Greta di Fiore, I recently finished my study in Science for Communication at the University of Milan. Since to the high school I worked through the study of the world of communication, storytelling and the media, and I have always found it fascinating areas. At the art school that I attended, I had to face trials and practical simulations of creating media products and essays. In the choice of university course I have confirmed my interest in the study of the forms of communication and I argued some specific tests on marketing, on publishing and journalism. My aspiration now is to find a job in line with my studies, in my future I hope to find employment at a company where I think I can best express the qualities that I think are my best: creativity and writing skills.

---