Showcase description

My work comes from a great passion and is the synthesis of different skills and professions; videomaker from the photographer, but even before, an author, able to design and implement narrative media where often prevails a visionary language with no dialogue. From a mere spectator and devourer of films I became self-taught in the seventh art making short movies in VHS-C and Hi8 format then moved to digital giving me such an infinite number of ways to experiment with languages and techniques learned simply by watching the movies of my authors favorite. After graduating from art school A. Passaglia (LU) I follow a series of targeted workshops on the role of the Video-Making; both from an amateur point of view evolved that professional, studying the various digital video camera techniques, with SD camcorders, HD and DSLR cameras. In addition to the training I undertook the purely personal studies on photography and aesthetics of cinema with Roberto Galassini (Professor and Director of Photography) analyzing the role of DOP in cinema and television (movies, series, TV dramas), in 'audiovisual (documentary, video clips, advertising) to the theory of light and colors in nature. To complete my studies on digital photography, I attended a professional course of digital photography at the IF - Institute of Photography (MI) transforming a hobby into a real job.
