Showcase description

I'm an art director senior, specialized in advertising and graphic design with more than twenty years of experience in the industry. I have a keen sensitivity to the needs of the market, a tireless curiosity and an eye always fixed on the clock before delivery. For over twenty years I invent all colors and shapes. I grew up in some of the leading communications agencies in Genoa, acquiring the experience and the needed skills to do what I do today. My job is to design and manage a communication project by myself or co-ordinating a creative team, depending on customer needs. My clients are private companies, public administrations and communications agencies. I suggest consulting at a hourly cost that can cover all the activities from project management to customer care, from art direction to graphic and visual design. This kind of consultancy is very good value for money.
