Showcase description

Make your products interactive. Through the digitization of a single photo, it is able to generate product images in all variants with photographic quality. This allows you to: Online products configurator. Your visitors can change a product's colour and material in one click. They can view all customizations in real time. BeUnico system can be easily integrated with any e-commerce platform. Simplify production decisions. Instant product renderings enable you to see finished products in all potential variants at the design stage. Savings on product prototypes. Photorealistic rendering allows you to preview images of variants and modifications without the need for physical prototypes. You can get images of your collection before manufacturing your products. Generate photorealistic and high-resolution images for printed catalogues. Saving on Still-life production. BeUnico avoids post production and photo-retouching of the images.
