Showcase description

Domenico Cimino, he studied at Art High School of Teggiano (SA) and graduated in Industrial Design at Faculty of Architecture "Luigi Vanvitelli". Immediately working with some creative design studio as a freelance designer, he moved to Rome to work for Paola Pinnavaia as a Senior Designer, taking care of the development of products for Oregon Scientific, Alcatel and Thomson. In 2008 he began his long collaboration with Angeletti Ruzza, following the development of the projects for Azzurra, Colombo, Fantini, Guzzini, Poltrona Frau and Oluce. In 2017 he began his autonomous activity designing for several Italian and foreign companies, between these United-Pets, Noom e ZAD, both as a product and as an interior designer. Irony, functionality and sustainability are the principles of inspiration for its design. He has won several awards including: Bombay Sapphire Martini, woodesign Turin, Promosedia, Piaggio "moving in the city".
