Showcase description

Hello My name is Angela, and I'm a graphic designer and communications consultant. I can help you design new strategies and ideas that will improve your business and strengthen your brand identity. Tell me your goal and I'll help you achieve it. I am always learning something new and currently I am studying and practising illustrations. Between my personal projects a blog about cycle-tourism and in particular about women who dream to travel alone: I think every woman once in her life should do a trip alone.
