Showcase description

My name is Anita Contini and I am 26 years old. I trained as a Product and Communication Designer at the Politecnico di Torino with an internship at a leading company in the Visual Merchandising area and a thesis on the Participatory Design of shared living spaces. The internship path opened the doors to subsequent collaborations with the studio and in parallel I began to develop further knowledge in the fields of communication, graphic design, marketing and social media content. Currently, I collaborate with artists for the design and construction of installations, I am co-founder of a format on the theme of human resources of which I manage content and image, co-founder of a network of professionals in the world of art, design and communication, which is moving the his steps in the business world. The various work experiences have contributed to the growth of both technical skills on photo editing (Photoshop) and design and modeling programs (Autocad, Rhinoceros, Blender) and presentation and graphics (Adobe Illustrator) and others (InDesign, DaVinci Resolve and others) as transversal skills such as problem solving, negotiation and sales, result and customer orientation, organization and autonomous management of work, stress and deadline management, active listening and empathy. I consider myself in continuous learning and I believe that curiosity and the desire to improve myself characterize me. I am a lover of aesthetic harmony, beauty and communication of projects, realities, ideas, companies and between people.
