Showcase description

My name is Gaetano Vrenna, a young graphic designer from Calabria who recently graduated from the Politecnico di Milano in the course of LM in Communication Design and, previously, graduated from the Academy of Fine Arts in Catania in the three-year degree course in Graphic Design for Business Communication. I started my private activity as a graphic designer in 2013, dealing mainly with visual identity and editorial design. Over the years, I then expanded my personal practical and theoretical skills, also dealing with Advertising, Copywriting and digital graphic design for social platforms and websites. In the last two years in Milan, I had the chance to work in some of the most important professional realities of the capital as Visual Designer, such as Hook srl, Cba Italia and Whatever. These experiences not only allowed me to work with clients of a certain level, but above all they taught me a lot, allowing me to further improve my knowledge and skills. I am an enterprising young man, extrovert and dedicated to work, always ready to lend a hand and work in a team and, above all, to continue to learn where possible and necessary. During my years of school and university studies, I have also had the opportunity to improve my knowledge of English and Spanish and now I am looking for a new opportunity where I can put myself to the test and grow above all as a Graphic Designer.
