Showcase description

I'm Dmitrij Tattini, a freelance concept artist, an illustrator and a graphic designer. Since my high school studies, I have directed my training, up to the academic one, to the field of visual arts, illustration and graphic design. Among my skills, I have a good knowledge of the Adobe suite (including Photoshop, Illustrator, InDesign) and Office 365. Thanks to my previous work experience I have improved my social interactions and I have fully understood the working dynamics of a well-knit team. I like to work closely with a dynamic and open-minded work group, for the creation of effective editorial plans and graphics for social media, for websites and for videogame companies. In fact, I am a fan of the videogame sector and Concept Art too, but I am a creative in all respects. I am inclined to productivity and design functionality, passing from the problem solving of a specific project to its rendering. Punctuality and deliveries are my strong points, as well as my communication with the team and with customers.
