Showcase description

I'm Elia Bonalumi, aka Toby, I'm an Italian character designer and illustrator. I graduated in New Art Technologies and I am studying concept art and character design on my own, between one project and another. My creativity, emotionality and open-mindedness are the core of my approach to the projects. I would like to collaborate with or work for companies, sharing and using my graphic-artistic skills for various types of projects: covers of books or illustrated books, cartoons, posters, elements related to Twitch, and character studies for animations, films or video games.
