Showcase description

Emanuele Caratelli is a conceptual artist and illustrator/tattoo artist, primarily using Photoshop and traditional techniques. Over the years, I have acquired various skills in the field of visual arts, as I have always been passionate about cartoon-style drawing. My first encounters with this art form date back to my childhood, when I enjoyed creating characters, stories, and fantasy worlds. Over time, I pursued this passion and increasingly felt the need to specialize and improve my skills in drawing and illustration. After obtaining my diploma from the Art High School, I continued my studies as a self-taught artist for a year, before enrolling in a comics school in Rome. My interest in visual arts, as well as in concept art, has also led me to explore the world of tattooing, in which I have been active for about 10 years. What I want to do: I want to continue my journey as an illustrator/concept artist by lending my art to suitable studios/companies to grow more and more and enhance my art.
