

Pavan Ruberoe

Marketing Junior

Location: Italy > Lazio > Roma

Years of Experience:

Employment Search: Si

Internships Available: Si

Showcase description

My name is Pavan Ruberoe, and I would like to submit my unsolicited application for any potential opportunities in the fields of Marketing and Digital Marketing within your company. I hold a Bachelor's degree in Marketing (BA Hons) from the University of Portsmouth, awarded with an Upper Second-Class (2:1) classification, and I have developed a solid background in digital marketing, marketing research, advertising, and strategy. Throughout my academic journey, I consistently combined my studies with a strong practical interest in the digital world and in consumer behavior analysis. I gained significant experience as a European Digital Intern at Honda Motor Europe, where I collaborated with international teams and worked on data analysis using Google Analytics, A/B testing on digital applications, market research, reporting, and support in managing digital content on a European scale. This experience allowed me to strengthen my analytical, organizational, and teamwork skills. I am a motivated, proactive, and results-oriented individual with strong communication skills. I am fluent in Italian, English, and Sinhalese, and I am seeking a stimulating environment in which to grow professionally and actively contribute to the company's success.

App iphone ipad android

