Showcase description

A graduate in Communication Sciences with a strong passion for the world of communication, media, and interpersonal relationships. Determined, reliable, and precise, I approach every challenge with enthusiasm and a desire to constantly improve. I have excellent listening and interaction skills, which allow me to easily integrate into dynamic and collaborative work environments. Thanks to my decade-long experience in rhythmic gymnastics at the national level, I have developed discipline, resilience, and stress management, qualities that I apply with determination in my professional life. I am a proactive, curious person, always ready to get involved. I love traveling, discovering new cultures, and deepening my knowledge of cinema, social media, and digital communication. I am looking for a professional opportunity in a stimulating and creative environment where I can put my skills and passions to good use.
