Showcase description

My name is Gianfranco, also known as 'Mantis'. I was born in Rome and I've been living in Milan for about two months. I am a videomaker and photographer with more than 12 years of experience in the audiovisual industry, mainly specialized in music videos. Over the years, I have also worked on commercials, event videos, podcasts, and various creative projects related to visual communication. My approach combines aesthetics, storytelling, and attention to detail, with the goal of creating content capable of conveying identity and emotions in an authentic way. I enjoy working closely with artists, brands, and creatives to transform ideas into strong and recognizable visual projects. At the moment, I am expanding my professional network in Milan and I would like to continue growing in the world of video production and creative direction, collaborating on increasingly structured projects in the music, advertising, and digital industries.
