Showcase description

KAOS, a management consulting firm in the fields of Marketing / Strategy / Communications, was formed in 2001 by a founding member of ANNA Zannini, from twenty years of experience gained in previous managerial and entrepreneurial staff, first in marketing and strategic planning in companies and then advertising / communication. The Staff of KAOS and 'a team of professionals accustomed to working on projects within a framework of enterprise network in which internal and external resources are made to satisfy the need from time to time defined. Our skills come from marketing, strategic planning, psychology, communication and organization of the company. Our senior consultants always add up to those of direct business experience and consulting experts in the education of adults. The foundational skills are supported by important structural partnerships that allow us to offer our customers integrated solutions, with "end products" that can interpret the best intervention strategies designed.
